I have a PC which has windows 7 license but I installed windows from an image I downloaded and it is already activated. For validating genuine Microsoft, IÂ .Q: Java regex pattern: Extract the values between the parenthesis of certain strings Here's what my pattern looks like: String pattern = "(.?)\\s(.?)\\s(.)"; I'm able to match everything except the value at the middle between the parenthesis. How do I only match the values at the middle? This is what I have so far: int start = document.getText().indexOf("("); int end = document.getText().indexOf(")"); Pattern pattern = Pattern.compile(pattern); Matcher matcher = pattern.matcher(document.getText()); matcher.find(); start = matcher.start(); end = matcher.end(); while (matcher.find()) { System.out.println(matcher.group()); } This is the output I get with above code: (.?) What I want: (10.0) (20.0) How can I achieve this? A: This will print out the content between parenthesis: Pattern pattern
