(If you use a multistream surround sound system (with dedicated hardware) you will get all the information for the speakers connected to your system. How can you do this? There are many non realtime echo display programs for Sonos. These programs just read the link from the Sonos controller and display the sound. Realtime Echo does not work with them. To work, echo must be implemented in the hardware. For example, you can buy a Sonosbridge for around $100. Realtime Echo (Echo) is a simple Java application which takes into account the hardware features of the Sonos controller, and shows all the
