The expression of insulin-like growth factor-binding protein-1 (IGFBP-1) was investigated in normal and neoplastic human tissues. Biopsies of normal laryngeal and bronchial mucosa (n = 13) and of colonic mucosa (n = 9) were examined by immunohistochemistry. IGFBP-1 was highly expressed in laryngeal epithelia and variable in bronchial epithelia, with no significant difference in IGFBP-1 expression between normal and dysplastic laryngeal epithelia. In colonic epithelia, immunostaining was more intense in cells adjacent to crypts than in cells within crypts. Moreover, in areas of colonic mucosa with active ulcerative colitis, IGFBP-1 was expressed at higher levels than in the remainder of the colon. The majority of colonic adenomas did not

Windows 1045 N.E.2d at 860. II In his third issue, defendant argues that the trial court should have granted his motion to dismiss because the State failed to conduct a preliminary hearing prior to the charging instrument. The State's failure to conduct a preliminary hearing does not nullify an indictment where a copy of the same indictment has been served on the defendant. (See Griffin v. State (1983), 119 Ill. App.3d 18, 27-28, 456 N.E.2d 953, 958.)
The State's failure to notify the accused of the preliminary hearing is not prejudicial error where he has been charged by information, rather than by indictment, and where the information apprises him of the nature of the charge against him. (See 99 C.J.S. Witnesses § 491 (1958).) A preliminary hearing is required only when the defendant has not been previously charged by information. (See Ill. Rev. Stat. 1983, ch. 38, par. 110-1.) The following arguments raised by defendant are without merit. First, defendant argues that he was not charged by information. He cites People v. Brown (1959), 22 Ill.2d 83, 86, 174 N.E.2d 153, 154, for the proposition that a defendant is entitled to a preliminary hearing before a person can be formally charged by information.

---

Defendant cites no authority, however, for the proposition that a defendant charged by information is entitled to a preliminary hearing. Defendant was charged by information on February 18, 1984. The State properly argues that defendant was charged by information on March 8, 1984, the date of the information. Defendant cites no authority for the contention that an information may not charge a defendant who had been charged by information before the information was filed. Furthermore, defendant's third argument, that the information did not charge him properly, is without merit. In the information, the charges are denominated as "FELONY COUNT I * * * C. & E. TRAFFICKING IN CHILDREN FOR SALE

FOR PROSTITUTION," and "FELONY COUNT II * * * KEEPING A HOUSE OF PROSTITUTION." The indictment simply names the offenses as
