One that comes to mind immediately is the 20 minute version where he cuts out the ads and just interviews his guests for the price of a cup of coffee. Why am I telling you this? Because I`m hoping you will really listen to Jack, and not just watch the ads they put on his show so you can tell me you like them. Jack is spreading the story of the power of Jesus and the joy and love He can bring. And he did this without ever saying, "Hey, thank you Jesus. I appreciate you. I need to tell you something about me and ask you for your help." He did something very simple. He actually told the truth as he saw it, and then God worked. He`s absolutely right that there was a lot of need, a lot of brokenness in today`s world. He`s right that people need God`s grace to help them change that brokenness and sin out. But as he did that he gave God the glory for it, because he wants everyone to see that the truth of the gospel doesn't just solve our problems, but it brings us God's love. And while that's true, I'm here to tell you that you don't have to spend your whole life without that love. You can be a part of it.

You can be the thing that's bringing God's love into your world. But it starts with you, because you need to know the truth of the gospel, that God loves you, and that He sent Jesus to pay the penalty you deserved for being born into a sinful world. Because I'm here to tell you

Everyone can agree that the 2008-2009 season has been a tough one for Heat fans in the City of Brotherly Love. People can blame the then-owner of the Heat, Micky Arison, for not investing more money into the team to win the NBA title. Or the officials in the league for rigging some of the regular season and playoff games. Or whomever else you can think of. There is no denying that the Heat/76ers rivalry has been one of the best in the League. Despite the fact that the teams live only 12 miles apart in New Jersey, it is very easy for the rivalry to be overlooked our focus throughout the entire season has been derailed by the debacle in South Beach. I blame the writers who create the storylines of the Heat, the writers who decide which
