12 January 2018 Trump wreath-laying honors military members who died in Iraq and Afghanistan The final day of the new President's first term was marked by a solemn event at the White House to honor the soldiers who died in Iraq and Afghanistan. The graves of four fallen military members were laid in the ground during a brief ceremony in the Diplomatic Reception Room. They were given military honors by the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington Cemetery. Their names were read aloud and a wreath was placed on their grave. White House Director of Social Media Dan Scavino delivered remarks. At the ceremony, Trump recalled his father's military service to the US. "But I have to tell you, in all fairness, I'm also a Gold Star father. You understand that, right?" he said.
"I mean, my father was a Gold Star father. I think he would be so very very proud of my presidency.” Three decorated soldiers who died in Afghanistan and one who died in Iraq were laid to rest. Among them were Lt. Michael S. Murphy, a Navy SEAL who died in Afghanistan in 2017. Murphy was awarded the Bronze Star for his service in Iraq and Afghanistan. The ceremony was put together by the Department of Defense and Joint Chiefs of Staff in cooperation with the Pentagon. “We do this with a tremendous amount of honor and respect,” joint chiefs chairman Gen. Joseph Dunford said during the ceremony. The Pentagon sent dozens of military families to the funeral for the fallen soldiers. Brig. Gen. James W. Head, deputy chief of staff for operations, presented each family with a flag from the Tomb of the Unknowns. “This flag symbolizes, in so many different ways, the home, the residence, where our service members make the ultimate sacrifice in support of America,” Head said. “This is a home-away-from-home for many families of missing or fallen service
