Earthlings once ruled the forest with an iron fist. Tragedy struck when a traitorous shaman escaped the boom-and-bust bubble of our civilization to enter the realm of Sproggi. The spirit of the great north wind brought him to the best place to hide, our beloved wilds. Sproggi unleashed a feisty posse of demon familiars to ravage the woods. He's not going anywhere, as long as you keep feeding him your undying souls and slashing those fiendish familiars. The time is 5:37 AM, your alarm clock is going off, the night is in your eyes and you must take one of the many cycling directions to the highway. You're a loyal road warrior and a true one of the most important parts of our survival. You're the heart of the whole, and there is no other heart like yours. The time is getting closer and the surroundings are getting darker. We're going to do it now and take on the road! Scrolling through the serenity of the dark forest and the night, the bicycle on your hand will guide you on your way towards bigger challenges. You may fall into the trap of the night or you may encounter the swarm of insect along the way, but we know what you are. As you ride along the wild, there are lots of things to see, so be careful of what might be hiding in the darkness. Your journey is getting closer, so let's start! Climb on the seat of your bike, because we're going through the forest and we can see the whole area ahead. Pull the brake and get ready for the meeting of the road. At the moment, the roads are really long, and we see a lot of cars passing by, so speed up and always be in the lead. We're the hardest road-warriors of the wild, but we don't forget to have fun. If it gets too hot and too dark, stop in some place in the shade of the trees. If you see any animals or birds, be careful, because they might try to strike and try to grab your bike or the people. Can you go the top of the hills? Are you skilled enough? If you can make it up to the top of the hill, it's up to your skill and your grip. There are

The Swindon Steam Train is back! This is a game where you take on the role of Chief Engineer, and attempt to build and run a steam railway which will enable passengers to travel from London to Edinburgh in under four days. The gameplay is easy to pick up and play, but also features several elements that make The Swindon Steam Train feel like a thoroughly modern game. This is a game that's been built for Steam, and is intended to take advantage of the platform. For example, there are Steam friends functions, Steam achievements, Steam trading cards, Steam Cloud save and much, much more. It's a game that's full of Steam goodness, and we're proud of what we've put together for it. But that's not all - we've also included a huge amount of content, and have made this a game that can be played over and over and over again. If you've played the original Swindon Steam Train, you'll find that this game expands on, and enhances, everything that's already in the game. Because of this, this game is a fully rewarding experience, that will keep you entertained for a long time. You can choose to play on a single player basis, or you can play multiplayer matches with up to three players. This means that you can play a solo adventure, while your friends try to beat your high score. Or, you can play alongside your mates, and compete against them as you attempt to build up the fastest railway in the UK. There are 3 different game modes in The Swindon Steam Train - Time Trial, Season, and Road Trip. Time Trial is the quickest of the 3 modes, and is intended to be an excellent way to get familiar with playing the game. Season mode is a bit different - here, you begin with a fixed game length. Over the course of the 3 week season, you'll be collecting Steam Achievements, but you'll be building the fastest railway in the UK! In Road Trip mode, you'll begin with a map of the UK, but you'll be able to choose to change the route, and even change the time. Simply choose your preferred way, and you're ready to go. I took a great class with photography instructor Tim Laman. He taught us some wonderful techniques to take care of the skin on a nude photo shoot. Now, I have some new equipment and I'm ready to work again! Tim, what was your teaching style like? How did you work with the students? Tim Laman, my first class back in 2012 was a couple I took when I first went into the business of photographing nudes. At that point, I was just going by the flow of the model I was working with and didn't really plan things out. It took a few sessions before we even started to get into any shooting. We talked a lot about what they wanted the session to look like and what I would shoot. At the time, my style was a little more modern - making it look like the model was captured at the location and not at a studio. Some of the images that came out of that class have always stuck with me. They still work today, which says a lot. My classes have been more structured since then and I've made a point to listen to what the models want and what they expect out of a photo session. How do you go about setting up a nude photo session? One thing I like to do is set up my gear in the room where I'm shooting and make sure everything is fully charged. I have both a flash light and continuous light for the exposure when I'm setting up my camera in the room. I also have a camera bag and a lens bag with me. We'll start out talking about what I'm going to do and then, in the first session, I'll have a list of things I want to try. Some of those things might be a pose, a specific look, or a particular expression. The best part about planning out the session ahead of time is it helps me mentally prepare myself for the session. When I'm there, the first thing I'll do is to look at the camera and see how the shot looks. I want to make sure everything is going the way I want it to. I've also found

Have you been looking for the Harry Potter 1 you tried to forget? The Fallout: New Vegas mod makes it even easier than ever to remember that one! Ubuntu: The Vegas Edition Catch a beautiful Nevada sunset in Second Life! Don't Forget Your Desert Island Drinks I can't believe how fast summer has gone by. I don't know about you, but I almost blew my own score of 50k. The con-scenes have been great, but they seem to be getting more and more frequent in the last few weeks. But why isn't there any con-scene in Second Life? There's always events here and there, but during June/July there was nothing. Why is that? It's been unbelievably busy with all of this, and there was hardly anything going on at all for this period of time. Is anyone else noticing that there should be more con-scene than in the first half of the year? I also just renewed my account, which means I now have all of the collection of books, movies, and music. It's really pushing all of the but I guess you don't want to hear about that. And speaking of renewals, if you are in the same boat, we are now doing this cheap month long offer for new accounts and if you renew, you get another month free. Click on the link to renew yours. Saturday, July 30, 2010 Hello dolls! First of all the HUGE congratulations go to Michael Pharr (who created Avranas) and his wife Lilah for reaching 1000 followers on his own twitter page! (spice up your flavor today) Have any of you been using the Great Escape and really enjoying it? I have been and it has definitely been one of my favorite rendezvous destinations this summer. The expensive shows in the theater are a great treat and the lighting and stage sets take you to another time. I haven't had a chance to go in there yet, so I hope this will get a great review. Anyway, it seems that the summer is winding down. It's getting to the point where I am becoming really hungry. I don't want to force myself to eat before the con-scenes go down. Since that doesn't really make sense, I may very well be having an early supper this weekend. It's too early to know for sure. I'm going to stay up really late tonight, so I will let you

Crusader Kings II is a historical grand strategy (HGS) videogame developed by The Creative Assembly and published by Sega. It was released on May 10, 2012. The game allows players to become a medieval monarch of one of the nine factions from the title. Playable Faction The Great Khans The Great Khans are an offshoot of the Oghuz Turks. They were one of the smaller factions found in the expansion. Their capital was Herat, and they were allied to the Eastern Roman Empire. The Great Khans are a reworking of the Khazar faction of the Slavs DLC. The Great Khans were made playable during the Persian Portraits DLC. Persian In this content, all the Persian units belong to the Dynasty of Achaemenids, or simply Persian. They are the main descendants of the early Achaemenid Empire, the founders of the Sassanian Empire, but from the point of view of the DLC, they are loyal to the Great Khans instead of the Achaemenids. The Great Khans govern over the Khorasan and are the largest faction to lay claim to that part of the world. The Great Khans have a huge standing army, one which outnumbers even the Achaemenids. There are also a few Persian allies in the DLC, namely the Pazyryk. Campaign Sequence Campaigns Crusader Kings II: Persian Portraits DLC contains campaigns set in the areas of Syria and Armenia, in the 5th century. Each faction may use its entire army, or a selected group of units, as it chooses. Game Settings Game Settings are features that change certain game variables, such as victory conditions and unit recruitment. Crusader Kings II: Persian Portraits DLC contains 2 Game Settings, with no overlap between their territories.
