Example: I have an array of matrices; [[0,1,0], [0,0,0], [0,0,0]] How can I access the each element of the matrix using the array? Example: This is a matrix representation of the adjacency list; 0 has 1 element that is [1,2,3] 1 has 2 elements [1,2,3] and [1,2,3] 2 has 3 elements [1,2,3], [1,2,3], and [1,2,3] So how can I access each element of the matrix using this representation? A: It's more of an open-ended question than a Java-specific one. There are any number of ways to do this. What's important is that whatever you do, d0c515b9f4

I have read all of this topic and I have a similar error that I can't solve it. It seems that I couldn't get the mysqld.dll on my windows-8 (with WU) and I can't use Xamarin.iOS on this machine. How do I install mysqld.dll and Xamarin.iOS on my Windows-8 machine? . I am having trouble finding how to do this on my Windows-8 machine. A: You need to open up Xamarin.iOS in Visual studio, if you don't have it already. Then you need to go to Tools - Options - Xamarin - iOS Support and make sure "Windows API" is ticked. Then when you start the project from Xamarin.iOS, make sure you get the options (you may have to hit the Page Up or Page Down at the bottom to switch the option as it auto selects it for you) Then for MySQL, you should have a simple form that will ask you to select the MySQL version. Select that and hit OK. Then just try to compile your project. If you get an error, you need to try to reinstall Xamarin.iOS. For Windows, Xamarin package for Visual studio has a section that will help you. If you get the same error again, just un-install Xamarin from the App store (you may need to do it twice though) and reinstall. The other option is the command line, and through that you can compile iOS apps without Visual Studio. # @(#)Makefile 8.1 (Berkeley) 6/9/93 CC = cc -I. -Wall -W -Wswitch -Wcast-qual -Wextra -Wmissing-prototypes BINHELP = binhelp MC = mc PROJECT = iop INSTALL= preinstall: $(INSTALL) ${INSTALL}prog $(DESTDIR)$(sysconfdir)/iop install: $(INSTALL) ${INSTALL}prog $(DESTDIR)$(sysconfdir)/iop clean: rm -f iop.0 prefix: if test x"$(DESTDIR)" != x""; then $(CP) -
