Peshawar Attack: Pakistan Air Force's jets hit militant hideouts across the country (Lead) Peshawar: The Pakistan Air Force bombed military hideouts in the town of Miranshah in North Waziristan Agency where a commander of the Lashkar-i-Jhangvi, one of the sub-groups of the proscribed terrorist outfit, killed an American soldier at the Torkham border on Tuesday, military sources said on Wednesday. One Pakistani soldier was also killed in the aerial bombardment, they added. A senior military officer said that the air strike was in response to the ongoing operations of the Pakistan Army in Chitral, where it rescued more than 500 people trapped in a landslide. The operation to rescue the stranded people was launched on Tuesday morning but due to heavy rains, rescuers were unable to reach them, the officer said. Two missiles were fired by the air force and the first one hit a target while the second was also directed at an area of the town, he added. The Air Force targeted eight hideouts in Miranshah while another in neighboring North Waziristan, the officer said. Pakistan Prime Minister Nawaz Sharif condemned the US soldier's killing and offered condolences to the family of the deceased and those affected by it. "I have been informed about the killing of our soldier," he said in a statement. He added that the nation stood together to confront terrorism. Pakistan has launched cross-border air strikes against the militant groups in retaliation to the killing of the US citizen in the restive tribal region. A Pakistani delegation, including Interior Minister Chaudhry Nisar Ali Khan and several other military officials, has left Islamabad to visit the US consulate in Peshawar to apprise it about the incident. The US Consulate in Peshawar is closed for a few days for the Eid holidays, and the personnel had visited a local store and bought some items when they
