I would like to test my app with Chrome's Emulator (i.e. "Device emulation") on Android. Since that seems to be not available on the web, I went to the Android SDK manager and downloaded the Emulator System Image from SDK Tools. The only problem is that I don't understand what to do now with the image. Can anyone point me to some articles or make some advice how to use the emulator? Thank you very much in advance. A: If you are using Eclipse (or Android Studio) you can add the emulator under Preferences > Android > SDK and AVD Manager (Advanced) If you want to create your own emulator you can use these: Creating A New Virtual Device in the SDK Manager. A: You can use the Android Development Tools (ADT) to emulate Chrome for Android and even the emulator. It's a command line tool. Emulator Control is an emulator that handles a series of command line tools that control the emulator.
