Every time America's like-minded billionaire and former presidential candidate [I believe "was" is the incorrect word here] make a statement, I'm getting a kick out of how they're falling over themselves to make sure they sound just like him. [crying] [quiet sobbing] [whopper noise] Gary Johnson, as I've said before on this show, is like a mix between the Vermin Supreme and Marie Antoinette. He's as fresh as they come, for you know, the last decade or so, and every time we talk about him, he keeps promoting himself. And he's doing it in ways that would make Trump blush. That's why I like Donald Trump so much. I have nothing against "Playboy" types, and I know what you're thinking right now. You're thinking he's talking about a magazine, or a clothing store, or, or, who knew it? You're thinking right now, "Wait a minute, that's a big oops." But Donald Trump said this. He said that Donald Trump, a renowned businessman, a billionaire, can live in Trump Tower for free, but he still wanted to be the next president of the United States. Which is my favorite part of this whole thing. The fact that Donald Trump, when he was asked about what he thought about Gary Johnson, or whomever else might want to run against him, he says, "Why would I, though? I'm much better than that guy." He should know, he's Donald Trump, he's a world-renowned entrepreneur. His accomplishments are no joke. He's a successful man, he's well-respected. If he said, "I'm gonna be Gary Johnson," I would nod my head in agreement and say, "Yeah, you know what? You should, because you're better than that guy."
