I have an application that uses OpenGL ES 2.0 with a fairly high framerate but currently draws my own texture to a quad (a simple fill). Now I want to start using an external texture but can't find any tutorials or sample code. With my programming skills I can follow simple todo lists but this hasn't really been any help. There doesn't seem to be much information on the web regarding this, I've tried using this and this (most current) but can't get it to work. OpenGL ES 2.0 is a fairly new API but one that I think might work perfectly well. A: Apple's Developer Connection is a very good place to get started. There are also some resources on the Android developers web site.
