xvid-ägar, som ligger tillsidor med en "1.2" i mjukvaran men ändå är spelade med dxv-2, som är formatet motionpixels går med. den "1.2" är följaktligen albumtunn, dvs. kommer att ta lättare ifrån oss skapare att spela, kräver en video inspelning från en dxv1 läge. dxv-2 formatet är inte så riktigt ändamålsenligt. dr. fink is a standalone piano roll editor which can either read its data from an input file or an existing midi file. there is also support for midi data stored in an instrument window for importing midi content from the current project. dr. fink also has multi-track saving and browsing and allows for easy file renaming. a search capability is also included for quickly finding specific midi regions. this keyword tool and text finder is useful when searching for special words or phrases within a project. it allows you to search across all tracks and instruments or select an individual track and instrument for more targeted searching. once the search is complete, the operator can select any of the word/phrase matches and apply them to the corresponding track, instrument or instrument track. if no matches are found, the currently selected track can be browsed normally to show its content, or a message can be displayed to indicate what to do next. the internal nugo.net library offers a number of classes that will make working with music files easier. among these is the fixed length blob library which offers a number of classes for working with binary (really data) formats. each file is given a unique id, written to a file, and then the unique id is compared to a list of known files. if it is a match, a reference to the original file is saved to the system and then it is deleted from the storage.
