What are we covering today? How to use Steam Header Coding different types of headings Naming classes and module Defining images Footer: Adding icons and a Steam version in the footer The instructions below are made to help you create the Steam Header and Steam Function. You can use both or one of both and change them according to your needs. Note that I only work on the GitHub code, so some parts could not be tested. WTB No. 2 Notice: Pls use the new infobox (Template:Infobox Locomotive) WTB No. 2 Generation: 0, Buff/Turbo steam info box templates Displays a list of all other users within the game, with any numbers after their name. If the user has an image then... They have caught up to you, and are currently playing... results, including several red, amber, and yellow warnings. What it looks like Steam is a fairly new multi-player gaming platform developed by Valve Corporation. The item info box extends the normal infobox, by providing a customized version of it, that only adds the required information to the title or text of an article. For this reason, it is referred to as the item infobox. The text that is output here can be different than that of the infobox itself, for example if its name is English as opposed to the native name of the language.
